Dear Colleagues,

Thank you for your support of the Shock Wave Society of North America. Welcome to the future of bioenergetic healing. I look forward to meeting you soon, and supporting your success in our professional American community at large. Should you be of the few who share the passion to advance medicine at any cost, with the inert interest in driving the future of bioenergetic technologies and therapies in America, you are among friends here. I applaud you, endorse you, and will personally promote your success as an ambassador to the Shock Wave Society.

As our society continues to grow and gain tenure, I look forward to aligning with additional international associations and groups who have walked the path we find ahead of us. Being a pioneer in American Medicine can feel daunting; but know that we are not alone. I encourage you to not only look inward for motivation, but to seek knowledge from our international medical communities. Specifically, the open-source guidance of the International Society of Medical Shockwave Therapy,

Sincerely,

Ryan Hansmeyer
President
